

The NOSE BOOK

BRIGHT and EARLY
Board Books

By Al Perkins

Illustrated by Joe Mathieu

I see a nose on every face.

I see noses
every place!

A nose between each pair of eyes.

Noses!
Noses!
Every size.

They grow on every kind of head.

They come in blue . . .
. . . and pink
. . . and red.

Some are very, very long.

Some are very, very strong.

Everywhere a fellow goes,
he sees some new, new kind of nose.

A nose is good for making holes
... in trees

... and roofs

... and barber poles.

A nose is useful.
After all . . .
some play horns . . .

. . . and some play ball.

But sometimes noses aren't much fun.
They sniffle.

They get burned by sun.

But just suppose you had no nose!
Then you could never smell a rose . . .

. . . or pie, or chicken à la king.

You'd never smell a single thing.

And one thing more.
Suppose . . . no nose . . .

Where would all our glasses sit?
They'd all fall off!
Just THINK of it!
