On the last day of summer,
ten hours before fall . . .

... my grandfather took me out to the Wall.

For a while he stood silent.
Then finally he said,
with a very sad shake
of his very old head,
"As you know, on this side of the Wall
we are Yooks.
On the far other side of this Wall
live the Zooks."

Then my grandfather said,
"It's high time that you knew of the terribly horrible thing that Zooks do.
In every Zook house and in every Zook town
every Zook eats his bread with the butter side down!"

"But we Yooks, as you know,
when we breakfast or sup,
spread our bread," Grandpa said,
"with the butter side up.
That's the right, honest way!"
Grandpa gritted his teeth.
"So you can't trust a Zook who spreads bread underneath!
Every Zook must be watched!
He has kinks in his soul!
That's why, as a youth, I made watching my goal, watching Zooks for the Zook-Watching Border Patrol!"

In those days, of course, the Wall wasn't so high and I could look any Zook square in the eye.

If he dared to come close
I could give him a twitch with my rough-tufted prickly Snick-Berry Switch.

For a while that worked fine.
All the Zooks stayed away
and our country was safe.
Then one terrible day
a very rude Zook by the name of VanItch snuck up and slingshotted my Snick-Berry Switch!

With my broken-off switch, with my head hung in shame,
to the Chief Yookeroo in great sorrow I came.
But our Leader just smiled. He said, "You're not to blame.
And those Zooks will be sorry they started this game.

"We'll dress you right up in a fancier suit!
We'll give you a fancier slingshot to shoot!"
And he ordered the Boys in the Back Room to figger how to build me some sort of a triple-sling jigger.

With my 'Triple-Sling Jigger'
I sure felt much bigger.

I marched to the Wall with great vim and great vigor, right up to VanItch with my hand on the trigger.
"I'll have no more nonsense," I said with a frown,
"from 'Zooks who eat bread with the butter side down!"

VanItch looked quite sickly.
He ran off quite quickly.

I'm unhappy to say he came back the next day
in a spiffy new suit with a big new machine, and he snarled as he said, looking frightfully mean,
"You may fling those hard rocks with your Triple-Sling Jigger.
But I, also, now have my hand on a trigger!"

"My wonderful weapon, the Jigger-Rock Snatchem, will fling 'em right back just as quick as we catch 'em.
We'll have no more nonsense.
We'll take no more gupp from you Yooks who eat bread with the butter side up!"

"I have failed, sir," I sobbed as I made my report to the Chief Yookeroo in the headquarters fort.
He just laughed. "You've done nothing at all of the sort.

Our slingshots have failed.
That was old-fashioned stuff.
Slingshots, dear boy,
are not modern enough.

"All we need is some newfangled kind of a gun.
My Boys in the Back Room have already begun to think up a walloping whizz-zinger one!
My Bright Boys are thinking.
They're on the right track.
'They'll think one up quick and we'll send you right back!'"

They thought up a great one!

They certainly did.

They thought up a gun called the Kick-a-Poo Kid which they loaded with powerful Poo-a-Doo Powder and ants' eggs and bees' legs and dried-fried clam chowder.

And they carefully trained a real smart dog named Daniel to serve as our country's first gun-toting spaniel.

Then Daniel, the Kick-a-Poo Spaniel, and I marched back toward the Wall with our heads held up high while everyone cheered and their cheers filled the sky:
*"Fight! Fight for the Butter Side Up!
Do or die!"*

Well . . .
We didn't do.
And we didn't quite die.
But we sure did get worsted, poor Daniel and I.
VanItch was there too! And he said, the old pig,
"The Boys in my Back Room invented this rig called the Eight-Nozzled, Elephant-Toted Boom-Blitz.
It shoots high-explosive sour cherry stone pits and will put your dumb Kick-a-Poo Kid on the fritz!"

Poor Daniel and I were scared out of our witz!

Once more, by VanItch I was bested and beat.
Once again I limped home from the Wall in defeat.
I dragged and I sagged
and my spirits were low,
as low as I thought that they ever could go,
when I heard a Boom-Bab!
And a Diddle-dee-Dill!
And our Butter-Up Band marched up over the hill!

The Chief Yookeroo had sent them to meet me along with the Right-Side-Up Song Girls to greet me.
They sang:

*"Ob, be faithful!
Believe in thy butter!"*

And they lifted my spirits right out of the gutter!

A cartoon illustration of a man with a very long, pointed nose, wearing a blue suit with yellow buttons and a blue hat with a yellow band and a pink flower. He is standing in a doorway, waving with his right hand. A dog is looking up at him from the bottom left. The background shows a green hill with a small house and a pink bird flying in the sky.

Those Boys in the Back Room sure knew how to putter!
They made me a thing called the Utterly Sputter and I jumped aboard with my heart all aflutter and steered toward the land of the Upside-Down Butter.

This machine was so modern, so frightfully new,
no one knew quite exactly just what it would do!

But it had several faucets that sprinkled Blue Goo which, somehow, would sprinkle the Zooks as I flew and gum up that upside-down butter they chew.

I was racing pell-mell
when I heard a voice yell,
"If you sprinkle us Zooks, you'll get sprinkled as well!"

VanItch had a Sputter exactly like mine!
And he yelled, "My Blue-Gooer is working just fine!
And I'm here to say that if Yooks can goo Zooks, you'd better forget it. 'Cause Zooks can goo Yooks!"

And I saw, just as soon as I stepped back on land, so were all of the girls of the Butter-Up Band.

A whimsical illustration by David Wiesner. On the left, a large, yellow and black mechanical device, resembling a giant's foot or a piece of machinery, is partially visible. A small man in a blue suit and yellow shoes is running towards it. In the center, a small brown dog is sitting on the grass. On the right, three blue, bird-like creatures are standing on a grassy hill. One is holding a long orange stick, and another is holding a blue cloth with a yellow star. A small yellow star is also in the water. The background is a simple landscape with green grass and a blue sky.

I raced to his office. The place was a sight.
"Have no fears," said the Chief "Everything is all right.
My Bright Back Room Boys have been brighter than bright.
They've thought up a gadget that's Newer than New.
It is filled with mysterious Moo-Laacka-Moo and can blow all those Zooks clear to Sala-ma-goo.
THEY'VE INVENTED

THE BITSY
BIG-BOY BOOMEROO!

"You just run to the wall like a nice little man.
Drop this bomb on the Zooks just as fast as you can.
I have ordered all Yooks to stay safe underground while the Bitsy Big-Boy Boomeroo is around."

As I raced for that Wall, with the bomb in my hand,
I noticed that every last Yook in our land was obeying our Chief Yookeroo's grim command.

They were all bravely marching,
with banners aflutter, down a hole! For their country!
And Right-Side-Up Buttery!

That's when Grandfather found me!
He grabbed me. He said,
"You should be down that hole!
And you're up here instead!
But perhaps this is all for the better, somehow.
You will see me make history!
RIGHT HERE! AND RIGHT NOW!"

Grandpa leapt up that Wall with a lopulous leap and he cleared his hoarse throat with a bopulous beep.
He screamed, "Here's the end of that terrible town full of Zooks who eat bread with the butter side down!"

And at that very instant we heard a klupp-klupp of feet on the Wall and old VanItch klupped up!
The Boys in HIS Back Room had made him one too!
In his fist was another Big-Boy Boomeroo!
"I'll blow you," he yelled, "into pork and wee beans!
I'll butter-side-up you to small smithereens!"

"Grandpa!" I shouted. "Be careful! Oh, gee!
Who's going to drop it?
Will you...? Or will he...?"
"Be patient," said Grandpa. "We'll see.
We will see..."
